PRESIDENTS MESSAGE

The CFRW Advocacy weekend April 28-29th was well worth the trip to Santa Ana. Membership tips: sponsor town hall meetings with your representatives. Community outreach can be aided by making up a list of media contacts. Send pictures of our events and write-ups to the local papers. Also, we had John Sullivan who co-wrote America and 2016 with Dinesh D'Sousa. His latest film will be out in September - Gosnell. I bought the book and it is unreal. Gosnell is the biggest mass murderer ever known with the help of Philadelphia's lack of abortion clinic inspections and follow-up. We all need to see it when it comes out. It needs to be supported and the film is good for all young people to see. It is very informative. Also, I attended the CFRW Southern Division meeting May 3rd, in Claremont, along with Jan, Nancy, Rozy and Victoria. I had a car load. We listened to speakers talk about the necessity of continuing to get our message out as Orange County will be lost to the left. Get involved in the local school boards, community meetings and support the local police, firemen, first responders whenever they have meetings. I know that our group is active and we must continue to be.

1st VP PROGRAMS

Larry Sand will be our afternoon speaker. Larry is the president of the non-profit California Teachers Empowerment Network – a non-partisan, non-political group dedicated to providing teachers with reliable and balanced information about professional affiliations and positions on educational issues – information teachers will often not get from their school districts or unions. His talk on June 8th will revolve around education reform, school choice and the teacher union problem.

AMERICANISM

Lorraine Mabbett

Article I, Section 8, Clause 11 of the U.S. Constitution grants Congress the power To declare War, Grant Letters of Marque and Reprisal, And make Rules concerning Captures on Land and Water, Letters of marque and reprisal are commissions or warrants issued to someone to commit what would otherwise be acts of piracy. Following the bombing of Pearl Harbor and the first months of 1942 the first letter of Marque, since the War of 1812 was issued for the Goodyear blimp Resolute. It operated as an anti-submarine privateer based out of Los Angeles. The Resolute Blimp was armed with a rifle and flown by its civilian crew, as it patrolled the seas for submarines. Then 30 years later, in 1973, with a Democrat Congress & Senate the War Powers Resolution was passed despite Nixon vetoing it. It required President's to obtain Congressional approval within 90 days of engagement in conflict. However, this is in direct contrast to Congress granting power to declare war AND Article 2, Section 2 of the Constitution "The President shall be Commander in Chief of the Army and Navy of the United States, and of the Militia of the several States, when called into the actual Service of the United States" "when called in the actual Service" refers to a Congressional declaration of war. Twelve years after the War Powers Resolution, another Congress also with a Democrat majority objected to President Ronald Reagan private financing of hostilities during the Iran-Contra controversy because there had been no prior congressional consent. Congress did not expressly invoke the Marque and Reprisal Clause, however, in those objections.

Most likely because it would draw attention to the Unconstitutional War Powers Resolution which is being used instead of Congress retaining their power via Article 1. Section 8, Clause 11 of the US Constitution. Lorraine Mabbett 5/11/17

I am delighted and also quite pleased that our own Peggy Schubert will be a vendor. You probably know that Peggy has an abundance of different items for everyone who wants to show their proud support for President Trump. We can eagerly anticipate those bright hats and t-shirts to be available for us to purchase and in the past she has had some terrific and fun sunglasses, as well. But Peggy's line of merchandise also has an assortment of other patriotic items, including those elephants of which we are so very fond. I really think her products will be perfect for our June meeting because 4th of July will actually not be too far away. Thus, if you want to show some red, white and blue, Peggy will have just the thing for you.

GOP lawmakers mark success by flipping rules from Obama By KEVIN FREKING - Associated Press - Sunday, May 14,

WASHINGTON (AP) - Final score: Republicans 14, Barack Obama's last-minute regulations, one.

Congressional Republicans anxious to show voters they can get something done are hailing their reversal of more than a dozen Obama-era regulations on guns, the internet and the environment.

Over a few months, lawmakers used an obscure legislative rule to ram through changes that will have far-reaching implications for the coal industry, broadband customers, hunters and women seeking health care at Planned Parenthood and other abortion providers.

The deadline for scuttling the rules that Democrat Obama imposed during his final months in office was last Thursday. The 1996 Congressional Review Act had given Republicans the power to make the changes with a simple majority, within a set time.

While the rest of Washington focused on the furor over President Donald Trump's firing of FBI Director James Comey, Republicans were celebrating their effort to reverse the rules, arguing that it would boost the economy and make it easier for businesses to operate.

"I am almost speechless when I think about the success," said Sen. Jim Inhofe, R-Okla.

Senators pointed out that Congress had only once before used the legislative tools stemming from the Congressional Review Act to quash a regulation - until this year. In all, the GOP was able to reverse 14 regulations that had or will get Trump's signature.

Sen. Chuck Schumer of New York, the Democratic leader in the Senate, argued that overturning rules passed at the end of the Obama administration hardly constituted an agenda. "The fact that they are bragging about these highlights how little else they have accomplished legislatively," Schumer said.

Republicans have a long way to go in their efforts to repeal and replace the health care law, cut taxes and boost infrastructure spending, all Trump priorities. Still, the GOP made clear soon after election victories in November that one of the first orders of business would be to go after Obama administration rules.

The effort has had strong backing from business groups such as the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, the National Rifle Association and prominent anti-abortion groups - all key constituencies that generally back Republican candidates. The Chamber endorsed eight of the 14 repeal resolutions that Congress passed. One still awaits the president's signature before it can become law.

Republicans reversed Obama rules that enhanced protections for waterways near coal mines, required contractors to disclose violation of 14 federal labor laws for the previous three years when bidding on contracts and imposed tight restrictions on what broadband companies such as Verizon, AT&T and Comcast could do with their customers' personal data.

Neil Bradley, a senior vice president at the Chamber, said that when it comes to slow economic growth, it's difficult to say, "This regulation is the culprit, but collectively, that's what happens."

"Together, they affected a pretty broad base of the business community," Bradley said.

Democrats overwhelmingly voted against most of the regulatory repeals. Republicans generally supported them, with Vice President Mike Pence casting the tie-breaking vote to allow states to deny federal family planning money to Planned Parenthood and other abortion providers. That reversed a rule Obama issued in his last weeks in office.

While many of the actions were designed to help businesses, others addressed social issues, including the repeal of a regulation designed to keep guns out of the hands of certain mentally disabled people. The NRA as well as advocacy groups for the disabled and the ACLU weighed in. They said it was discriminatory for the Social Security Administration to forward the names of certain beneficiaries to the instant background check system based on a mental disability and having a third party manage their benefits.

Democrats and environmentalists scored one victory last week. Senate Republicans failed to overturn a rule that would have forced energy companies to capture more of the methane that's burned off or "flared" at drilling sites. Sen. John McCain, R-Ariz., said he considered the rule onerous but undoing it would have prevented the Bureau of Land Management from issuing a similar rule in the future.

McCain, Sen. Lindsey Graham of South Carolina and Sen. Susan Collins of Maine joined Democrats on the vote.

GOP leaders opted not to bring a couple dozen other repeal resolutions up for a vote, including one that would have blocked a rule designed to protect funds on prepaid debit cards in case of fraud and unauthorized use.

Still, the 14 victories gave Republicans a chance to crow.

"In just a few short months, we have turned a significant corner from how things operated under the Obama administration," said Senate Majority Leader Mitch McConnell, R-Ky. "Instead of going around Congress to push through regulations, the president is working with us to ease the burden."

The Unacceptable Tax Return

This example shows the importance of accuracy in your tax return.

The IRS has returned the Tax Return to a man in New York City implying that he answered one of the questions incorrectly.

In response to the question, "Do you have anyone dependent on you?" the man wrote: ... "7.1 million illegal immigrants, 1.1 million crack-heads, 4.4 million unemployable scroungers, 80,000 criminals in over 85 prisons, at least 450 idiots in Congress and a group that call themselves Politicians."

The IRS stated that the response he gave was unacceptable.

The man's response back to the IRS was.... "Who did I leave out?"

Legislature

SB1 Ca. Gas Tax -- Gas is already expensive in California -- the state vies with Hawaii for the nation's highest per-gallon prices - and SB1 will make it more so by dinging motorists with a 12-cent-per-gallon excise tax hike on gasoline, a 20-cent increase on diesel and higher vehicle registration fees in order to fill potholes, repair roads and bridges, and expand mass transit.

Lawmakers pushed through the largest fuel tax hike in state history without bringing it before the voters. Instead, they cobbled together a two-thirds vote in both houses of the Democrat-controlled Legislature with no votes to spare. REMINDER -- Gov. ### California may end ban on communists in government jobs

By SOPHIA BOLLAG

May. 09, 2017

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Being a communist would no longer be a fireable offense for California government employees under a bill passed Monday by the state Assembly.

Lawmakers narrowly approved the bill to repeal part of a law enacted during the Red Scare of the 1940s and '50s when fear that communists were trying to infiltrate and overthrow the U.S. government was rampant. The bill now goes to the Senate.

It would eliminate part of the law that allows public employees to be fired for being a member of the Communist Party.

Employees could still be fired for being members of organizations they know advocate for overthrowing the government by force or violence.

The bill updates an outdated provision in state law, said Assemblyman Rob Bonta, the San Francisco Bay Area Democrat who authored the measure.

Some Assembly Republicans said the Cold War-era law should not be changed.

Chaffetz Blasts White House Leaker – They Should be in Handcuffs

By Rusty | Featured Contributor | May 22, 2017 6:54AM

Jason Chaffetz, the outgoing Chairman of the House Oversight Committee, threw down the gauntlet on those attempting to take down our President from the inside.

He said that despite party affiliation, anybody illegally leaking information about the Trump administration should be in jail. I don't care who it is – Democrat or Republican – you cannot have that happen," he said. "You probably ought to put some handcuffs on him."

Chaffetz made the comments during an interview on ABC's This Week with George Stephanopoulos.

Via Chaffetz continued to rail against the leakers, focusing on an often-overlooked aspect of the news cycle because the media would rather report on items damaging to President Trump, rather than issues of national security.

"I want to see that this person is prosecuted," he said. "No matter who is in the White House, you cannot have the type of leaking of information, sources, methods, classified information." Dennis Kucinich, a dyed-in-the-wool Democrat, recently warned that the individual or individuals leaking this information to the press are trying to "destroy Donald Trump's presidency."

Kucinich warned Americans that, "Our country itself is under attack from within" by what he called the "deep state," and defined the leaks against Trump as a "clear and present danger." These dangerous entities need to be stopped! It's been readily evident for some time that President Trump needs to purge his administration of any Obama holdovers, Democrats, or establishment Republicans who are trying to sabotage his presidency

President Trump to Muslim Leaders: 'Drive Out' Terrorists

By Paul | Commentator | May 22, 2017 10:07AM

Over the weekend, President Donald J. Trump began the first leg of his first foreign trip as President, speaking in Saudi Arabia on the issue of terrorism and other issues of shared concern.

The event marked President Trump's first overseas visit since taking office, and the President did not hold back in sending a powerful message to the world that all nations must come together and defeat radical Islamic terrorism.

During his highly-anticipated speech, the president called on Muslim leaders to "drive out" terrorists in the world, stressing that this is the only path forward if the world wants a "better future."

From NBC News:

"Drive. Them. Out. Drive them out of your places of worship," the president continued. "Drive them out of your communities. Drive them out of your holy land, and drive them out of his Earth!"

In Riyadh, Trump said, "This is not a battle between different faiths, different sects, or different civilizations. This is a battle between barbaric criminals who seek to obliterate human life, and decent people of all religions who seek to protect it."

Calling terrorists "the foot soldiers of evil," the president added, "If we do not stand in uniform condemnation of this killing, then we not only will be judged by our people, not only will we be judged by history, but we will be judged by God."

"for the first time in history, suddenly we have one of our former presidents set up a group called Organizing for Action, (OFA) 30,000 strong working to disrupt everything that our current president is trying to do."

Treason: the offense of acting to overthrow one's government or to harm or kill its sovereign. A violation of allegiance to one's sovereign or to one's state. The betrayal of a trust or confidence; breach of faith; treachery. Dictionary.com

A guy looked at my Corvette the other day and said I wonder how many people could have been fed for the money that sports car cost. I replied I am not sure, it fed a lot of families in Bowling Green, Kentucky who built it, it fed the people who make the tires, it fed the people who made the components that went into it, it fed the people in the copper mine who mined the copper for the wires, it fed people in Decatur IL., at Caterpillar who make the trucks that haul the copper ore. It fed the trucking people who hauled it from the plant to the dealer and fed the people working at the dealership and their families. BUT, I have to admit, I guess I really don't know how many people it fed. That is the difference between capitalism and welfare mentality. When you buy something, you put money in people's pockets, and give them dignity for their skills. When you give someone something for nothing, you rob them of their dignity and self-worth. Capitalism is freely giving your money in exchange for something of value.

Old age is golden, or so I've heard it said,
But sometimes I wonder, as I crawl into bed,
With my ears in a drawer, my teeth in a cup,
My glasses on the table until I get up.
As sleep dims my vision, I say to myself:
Is there anything else I should lay on the shelf?
The reason I know my youth is all spent?
Is my get-up-and-go has got up and went!
But, in spite of it all, I'm able to grin
And think of the places my getup has been!
